PREFACE

Only a few books contain within their covers all the details of country house planning and tasteful furnishing which is now so essential to the prospective builder. The majority of the books which do attempt to cover this ground result in being of aid only to the person who is financially able to carry out his fancies however impractical they may be. Perhaps it is because of this lack of books that so many magazine articles which take up the different phases of this work have been published. An indiscriminating index to all these articles would be of little practical use, therefore, besides a few books, in this bibliography aims to select and index only the magazine articles of particular interest to people of moderate incomes as well as those who have to economize more minutely.

The abbreviations used are: S.U. Syracuse university library; S. P. Syracuse public library. For magazines, the abbreviations used are those found in Readers' guide.
